We hope your spring season has been filled with successful auditions and plenty of classes. If you're a choreographer looking to present your work in a new and inspiring way this fall, take advantage of the Outlet Dance Project's upcoming opportunity! Need some extra inspiration? Check out the performances we've rounded up and enjoy watching and supporting your dance community.

PERFORMANCES

The Joyce Theater presents Ballet Tech Kids Dance June 7–10. If you have children, this is a wonderful family event. Marvel at the talent and say hello to the stars of tomorrow.

American Ballet Theater presents "Harlequinade," choreographed by artist-in-residence Alexei Ratmansky. Admire how he brings this lost classic to life with a bold new staging. You won't want to miss your favorite stars of ABT perform in this humorous ballet.

The New Dance Alliance, in collaboration with The Performance Project at University Settlement, presents their 32nd Annual Performance Mix Festival June 7–10. Different artists will perform each night. (Tickets: $15–20)

AUDITIONS

The Limón Dance Company seeks male and female dancers and apprentices to join the Company for the 2018–2019 performance and touring season. The audition will take place June 4 at the Everett Center for the Performing Arts.
